

Make a Camouflaged Timberdoodle!

Trace or cut out the Timberdoodle drawing.

American Woodcock drawing by WeDrawAnimals.com

Glue your pieces down. Add natural materials, like dried grass if you like!

Use construction paper, scissors and glue to layer a feathered look based on the Timberdoodle's appearance

Create a background for your Timberdoodle. At Pickering Creek, we find them in grassy meadows or along the edges of the gravel lane at dusk.

Peent!

Photo by Rodney Campbellfli, C.C. 2.0

Did you know!?

In Maryland, the best time to listen for Timberdoodles from the end of February through middle of March as they make a funny "peent!" sound. Often, this can be heard at dusk in farm fields and meadows and sometimes it is followed by the bird taking off into the sky and circling back down as the wind whistles through its wings!